

You Will No Longer Be Subject to Japan Inheritance and Gift Tax!? Will US Estate Taxes Be Repealed?

Speaking Engagement
April 20, 2017
Tokyo, Japan
Event Sponsor: PwC Tax Japan

Related Services

Trusts, Estates & Charitable Organizations

The FY17 Japan inheritance/gift tax reforms will be good news for many foreign nationals living and working temporarily in Japan but will represent further issues and complications for long-term foreign nationals, especially if they have Japanese spouses and children. Our discussion will help you further understand these complex and confusing laws and how they may impact you.

In the US, significant tax reform, including the repeal of the US Estate tax, was one of the commitments made by Mr. Donald Trump during his election campaign last fall. While no one can predict with certainty what will happen now that he has been elected President, let us hear about the potential changes from the front line by a guest speaker who is a leading advisor in the US and discuss the issues you may want to consider in your tax planning in the new President Trump world.

PwC Tax Japan cordially invites you to attend its seminar, at no cost, where it will explore the answers to these questions and more.

The presenters have extensively advised on cross-border tax matters and will bring their experiences to provide some clarity and also disclose areas of tax uncertainty for what should prove to be a very interesting one hour discussion.

To register for this seminar, please complete the online registration form at: <https://info.pwctax.or.jp/pwcjapan/m/pfs-0420>