

'My Ex-Employee Did What?' - Preventing and Addressing Post-Employment Misconduct

Event
October 14, 2015
Seattle, WA

Related Services

Labor, Employment &
Immigration

Employers face a variety of threats from departing employees, including theft of intellectual property, use and disclosure of trade secrets, and unfair competition and solicitation of customers and employees. Prudent employers can reduce those risks through effective employment agreements and other steps, and can curtail the bad behavior through timely and effective legal action.

Please join attorneys from Foster Pepper's Employment & Labor, Intellectual Property and Litigation groups to consider strategies for preventing and addressing post-employment misconduct.

Panelists will discuss:

- Preparation of enforceable employment agreements
- Protecting inventions and trade secrets
- Responding to employee theft
- Legal remedies and strategies for enforcing employer rights after termination

The speakers will take questions from the audience following the presentation. If you have a question you would like addressed, please email Price Herriage-Wilson at herrp@foster.com by Friday, October 9, 2015.

CLE (attorney) credits pending.
Certificate of completion available for other organizations.

When:

Wednesday, October 14, 2015

'My Ex-Employee Did What?' - Preventing and Addressing Post-Employment Misconduct

Time:

- 7:45-9:30 a.m.
- 7:45-8:00 a.m. Registration and Networking
- 8:00-9:30 a.m. Program and Q&A

Where:

Foster Pepper
1111 Third Avenue
30th Floor Conference Center
Seattle, WA 98101

RSVP:

Please RSVP to events@foster.com by Friday, October 9, 2015.

Questions?

Contact Price Herriage-Wilson at herrp@foster.com.

To view the materials, please click here. To listen to a recording of the webinar, please click here.