

Celebrating R. Daniel Carter: UCLA Native Nations Law & Policy Center's 2024 Alumnus of the Year

Firm News
March 13, 2024
Foster Garvey Newsroom

R. Daniel Carter will be celebrated as the 2024 "Alumnus of the Year" at the UCLA Law Native Nations Law & Policy Center (NNLPC) Annual Alumni Awards. The event takes place during the Federal Bar Association's Indian Law Conference on April 4, 2024, at the Sandia Resort in Albuquerque, New Mexico.

Daniel, a 2011 graduate of UCLA Law, is a principal in Foster Garvey PC's Tribal Governments & Enterprises practice and is based in the firm's Tulsa office. His work encompasses a wide range of critical areas within Native American legal advocacy and policy development.

NNLPC's annual award ceremony provides a platform to recognize the accomplishments of alumni who have made remarkable contributions to their communities and the broader legal landscape. Daniel's recognition not only celebrates his achievements but also highlights the critical role he has played in advancing the rights and interests of Native American tribes.

For more information, visit the Native Nations Law & Policy Center's website.

Contact

R. Daniel Carter

Related Services

Tribal Governments & Enterprises