

Food Localization: Empowering Community Food Systems Through the Farm Bill

Publication
June 27, 2018
Journal of Food Law and Policy

Our intent in this Article is not to delineate foods that are local or not local, nor is it to lionize one agricultural production method over another. Rather, we hope to build on the literature that for many decades has documented how local communities have emerged as influential actors on the American food system through establishing control over local supply chains often alongside national and global supply chains.

For Brian's complete insights on this subject, please visit the Journal of Food Law & Policy website.

Contact

Brian A. Fink

Related Services

Food & Beverage