

Litigation

The Litigation Department at Greenbaum, Rowe, Smith & Davis is broadly acknowledged as one of New Jersey's premier litigation teams. Our firm has a longstanding and well-earned reputation for cutting edge and cost-effective representation of clients across a comprehensive range of practice areas. We appear on behalf of our clients in state and federal courts, before regulatory agencies and other governmental bodies, and in mediation and arbitration proceedings.

Our litigators take a responsive, thorough and pragmatic approach to matters that range from routine disputes and "cost of doing business" cases to complex litigation, including high-profile "bet the company" conflicts. Regardless of the size and nature of the matter, our work always begins with an understanding of the client's specific objectives and expectations.

Some cases are best resolved through negotiation, while others must proceed to trial or arbitration and the outcome defended or challenged on appeal. The planning and implementation of an appropriate strategy to meet a particular client's goals and objectives encompasses more than legal and factual analysis – business or personal circumstances, financial considerations, and the specifics of the matter at hand are always taken into account. We take pride in our ability to master the facts and applicable law, analyze the big picture, and move forward on the client's behalf.

We provide both litigation and risk management support to small businesses, middle market companies, multinational entities and institutional firms operating in a wide variety of industries. Our clients also include trade associations, public sector entities and individuals.

Among the firm's most significant resources is the deep experience and diversity of our litigators, who collectively enable our Litigation Department to handle virtually every type of business or personal dispute. Our clients receive additional benefits from our use of the latest technology and litigation support software in our practice.

In 2018, the Department was proud to be recognized by the New Jersey Law Journal as Litigation Department of the Year - General (Midsize).
