

Covid and Testing and Mandates, Oh My! - A 2022 Update on the Biden Administration's Actions, Court Challenges, and Employer Best Practices

Live Webinar

February 10, 2022

Event Sponsor: Greenbaum, Rowe, Smith & Davis LLP

Greenbaum, Rowe, Smith & Davis LLP will present the webinar, "Covid and Testing and Mandates, Oh My! - A 2022 Update on the Biden Administration's Actions, Court Challenges, and Employer Best Practices," on Thursday, February 10, 2022 from 12:00pm – 1:00pm.

Speakers for this program are:

Thomas C. Senter

Co-Chair, Employment Law Department
tsenter@greenbaumlaw.com
732.476.2650

Joel Clymer

Member, Employment Law Department
jclymer@greenbaumlaw.com
732.476.2514

Vaccine mandates and other requirements related to the pandemic cannot be effectively addressed in a vacuum. They must be considered within the context of other relevant laws, which includes statutes that address discrimination, civil rights, disabilities, and family or medical leave at both the federal and state level. It is important to consider the workplace policies of individual employers as well. Finally, an employer must take steps to ensure that its policies are applied uniformly and consistently throughout its workforce.

Attorneys

Joel Clymer

Thomas C. Senter

Seminars & Events (Cont.)

Topics to be addressed include:

- The current status of the ETS and a review of other ongoing legal challenges
- Considering vaccine mandates within the context of NJLAD, Title VII, ADEA, and federal and state leave laws
- How an employer's compliance process and business policies may impact workplace safety and other issues
- The importance of not politicizing employment policies, and the benefits of being perceived as an "employer of choice"
- Tips for employers who seek to assist their employees with managing pandemic-related stress and uncertainty

If you were unable to attend, you can view the Program Recording.
