New York, NY

6 - 8:30 p.m.
Harvard Club of New York City
35 West 44th Street, New York, New York

Registration and reception at 6 p.m. Presentation from 7 - 8:30 p.m.

As health care providers struggle with complex reimbursement issues, increasingly stringent government regulations, and other complex administrative and financial concerns, having the most up-to-date information is imperative in order to realize the benefits of your hard work. This seminar will present an in-depth look at today's hottest issues for physicians.

After the seminar, interested participants may join us for dinner to continue the conversation in small-group settings. Preregistration for dinner is required.

Topics:

- Reimbursement changes, including tips to help ensure payment and discussion of key payor audit initiatives
- New physician compensation models in light of recent coordinated care initiatives
- Proper worker classification for professionals and how to ensure independent contractor status survives government scrutiny
- Personal wealth management and estate planning strategies for physicians
