

DEFINING AND MITIGATING PERSONAL RISK AS AN EHS&S PROFESSIONAL

Webinars

August 23, 2018
1:00 p.m. to 2:00 p.m.

August 23, 2018

In this world of ever-changing environmental, health and safety laws, regulations, and requirements, it has become increasingly complicated and difficult to manage environmental risk. Over the last several years there has been a renewed, and much more proactive approach to, government audits and investigations, including the criminal context. This has led to an increase in civil and criminal enforcement actions, making it even more important for businesses to vigilantly prepare for, and manage, government interaction.

Attend this webinar to learn:

- How to recognize and understand the legal and regulatory drivers of environmental audits
- Tips for managing government interaction in a way to limit potential exposure and risk
- The criminal liability tied to environmental compliance and operational deficiencies

Speakers:

- Michael J. Hecker, Esq., Attorney, Environmental Practice Group; Hodgson Russ LLP
- Timothy W. Hoover, Esq., Attorney, White Collar Criminal Defense Practice Group; Hodgson Russ LLP
