Event Sponsor: Hodgson Russ

September 24, 2009
Buffalo, NY

8:30 – 9:45 a.m.
The Guaranty Building
140 Pearl Street, Buffalo, NY

In today's corporate setting, in-house counsel face numerous challenges to establishing and protecting attorney-client privilege, particularly where e-mail permits broad communications with many employees. This seminar will cover the necessary steps to protect your company's confidential and privileged communications and address interaction with internal clients and supervision of in-house paralegals.

Topics:

- Standards for attorney-client communications
- Communications among in-house counsel, company personnel, outside counsel, and non-lawyers in the legal department
- Communications between businesspeople
- New York and federal law

Who should attend: In-house counsel, compliance officers, and other interested parties
