Mike Hecker will be participating in the 28th annual EHS & Sustainability Management Forum for the National Association for Environmental, Health, Safety, and Sustainability (EHS&S) Management (NAEM). Mike will be presenting an initial primer regarding relevant background associated with the emerging contaminant per- and polyfluoroalkyl substances (PFAS), as well as moderating a panel of industry and business experts during the presentation titled “Managing PFAS Risks: Advice for the EHS Professional.”

The annual conference provides access to engaging content, best practices, peer advice and networking designed to meet the needs of all members of the environmental, health, safety and sustainability (EHS&S) community.
