While the pandemic continues to disrupt our return to normal, taxes and audits aren't going away. In fact as budget deficits spike due to COVID, and many have moved out of major cities, experts are warning high-net worth individuals and corporations that audit risk is increasing. That's why Nishant Mittal, Co-founder of Monaeo, is hosting a webinar with Kristine Bly, a former NY State Auditor and currently a Senior Audit Manager with Hodgson Russ' State & Local Tax Practice, and Tim Noonan, Partner, New York State Residency Practice Leader. This panel of experts is here to answer your questions about what current trends in residency and how to protect yourself from government overreach.
