Canadian businesses often look to the United States to continue their growth. Before embarking on an expansion into the U.S., tax planning, at both the U.S. federal and state levels, is critical. Please join us for the first installment of the Talkin' Tax webinar series, during which members of our International Tax Practice and our State and Local Tax Practice will provide practical guidance on the U.S. federal and state tax considerations that a Canadian business should focus on when contemplating an expansion into the United States.

Topics to be discussed:

- Choice of entity and jurisdiction of formation considerations
- Federal income tax considerations
- U.S. state income and sales tax considerations
