Healthcare equity – allowing all persons to attain their full health potential without disadvantage from socially defined circumstances – is one of the most significant public health issues facing our communities today. It is also an area of increasing federal and state regulatory attention. Healthcare attorneys, providers and payors need to know about these initiatives to position themselves and their communities to succeed.

Join members of the NYSBA Health Law Section’s Public Health Committee and Hodgson Russ as they discuss developments in health care equity while networking with healthcare professionals in the Western New York area.

Who should attend: Healthcare attorneys, providers and payors, and those interested in learning about federal and state initiatives addressing healthcare equity in our communities.

This presentation and networking event will take place at the Guaranty Building, 140 Pearl Street, Buffalo, NY 14202.

Speakers:

- Jane Bello Burke, Hodgson Russ LLP (Immediate Past Chair of the Health Law Section)
- Clifford E. Barnes, Epstein Becker & Green, P.C.
- Heather M. Butts, JD, MPH, MA, Assistant Professor, Health Policy & Management, Leadership Class Faculty Lead, Columbia University Mailman School of Public Health (Chair, Public Health Committee of the Health Law Section)
