

IDA REPRESENTATION IN $50 MILLION MANUFACTURING FACILITY RELOCATION

Hodgson Russ represents an industrial development agency in the $50 million relocation of a manufacturing facility to address local flooding issues. The industrial development agency acted as a conduit for a variety of federal, state, and local grants and loans, and acted to assemble the real estate comprising the new site through condemnation and negotiation. The agency is also acting as the lead entity in addressing State Environmental Quality Review Act (SEQRA) and federal wetland issues.
