

COUNSEL TO DEVELOPERS AND LOCAL BUSINESSES FOR LAND USE AND ZONING ISSUES

Hodgson Russ has represented many local businesses and developers across New York State, including an 18-hole golf course, a winery, a family-owned meat market, and a developer of a large mixed-use business/residential park. This representation has included state and local code interpretation, analysis of permitting requirements, the preparation and presentation of environmental and zoning applications, and defending approvals and permits in litigation.
