

GUARANTY BUILDING FEATURED IN CHICAGO TRIBUNE ARTICLE

September 9, 2013

Hodgson Russ's Buffalo headquarters, the Guaranty Building, was featured in a Chicago Tribune article, September 1. Author and architecture critic Blair Kamin was inspired to write about the Guaranty Building, which he calls a masterpiece that reveals Louis Sullivan's "tall office building artistry at its peak," after viewing it on an overnight stay in Buffalo. He credits Hodgson Russ with saving the architectural treasure.

Read the full article.

