

HODGSON RUSS ANNOUNCES NEW PRACTICE GROUP LEADERS

April 12, 2012

Hodgson Russ announces the following attorneys have been appointed to lead firm practice groups.

Katherine E. Cauley now heads the firm's the Estates & Trusts Practice Group. The group had been led most recently by Thomas R. Hyde.

Michael E. Maxwell now heads the firm's Tort's, Insurance & Products Liability Practice Group. The group had been led most recently by Hugh M. Russ, III.

Paul D. Meosky now heads the Environment & Energy Practice Group. The group had been led most recently by Rick Kennedy.

Thomas W. Nelson, whose administrative area oversees the Estates & Trusts Practice Group, said, "Our estates and trusts clients will benefit from Kathy's leadership skills and client-service philosophy, as will our TIPL and environmental clients from having Mike and Paul in their new positions."

Benjamin M. Zuffranieri, whose administrative area oversees the Torts, Insurance & Products Liability and Environment & Energy Practice Groups, agreed. "In addition to being excellent lawyers, Mike, Paul, and Kathy have significant management skills that will serve the firm and our clients well."
