Daniel A. Spitzer, leader of the Hodgson Russ Municipal Law Practice Group, drafted the inaugural chapter on municipal annexation for the latest edition of New York Zoning Law and Practice, the leading resource for legal professionals, municipalities, and the courts on the subjects of zoning, planning, subdivision control, and land-use controls in New York State.

The chapter drafted by Mr. Spitzer introduces to the publication an in-depth analysis of the complex laws and procedures applicable to the annexation of land by one municipality from another.

The fourth edition of New York Zoning Law and Practice, which includes the new chapter on municipal annexation, was published in September 2009 by West.
