

HODGSON RUSS LAUNCHES "STATE TAX TALKS WITH JOE TANTILLO" PODCAST

November 29, 2022

Hodgson Russ LLP is pleased to announce the launch of our first ever podcast, "State Tax Talks with Joe Tantillo." This monthly discussion is intended to educate the listener on a variety of state and local tax issues, from the general and historical, to the topical and current.

In Episode One, parts 1 and 2, Hodgson Russ Chairman Emeritus Paul R. Comeau and Chairman Mark S. Klein give insight into the evolution of New York State and City's tax paradigm and what it has meant for business taxpayers, individual taxpayers, and their attorneys and other tax advisors. Mark and Paul discuss their early years as tax attorneys in New York, where, at the time, the lack of state guidance and existing precedent allowed them the opportunity to help shape state and local tax policy and practice. Mark and Paul have been at the forefront of Hodgson Russ's SALT practice since its inception, and they provide insight into how they built their impeccable reputation for successfully handling tax cases.

If you have any interest in state and local tax, this is one podcast you cannot afford to miss! "State Tax Talks with Joe Tantillo" is currently available through Apple, Podbean, Spotify, iHeartRadio, and Amazon Music.

Click here to listen to the podcast on Spotify.

Attorneys

Paul Comeau
Mark Klein
Joseph Tantillo

Practices & Industries

State & Local Tax

