

Samantha K. Buddig

Associate

Chicago
t: 312.467.9800
sbuddig@lanermuchin.com

Samantha joined Laner Muchin in 2021 and focuses her practice on employment counseling and transactional matters and labor management relations.

Prior to joining the firm as an associate in 2021, Samantha worked as a law clerk for the firm throughout law school. She regularly counsels employers in both the public and private sectors in matters such as labor management relations, employment litigation and day-to-day employment issues. She advises clients on how to best comply with local, state and federal labor and employment laws through preventative counseling and trainings focusing on preventing discrimination, harassment and retaliation in the workplace. Samantha also works with clients to draft and implement workplace policies and employee handbooks.

As a law student, Samantha was part of the Labor & Employment Law Society and received the Sandra P. Zemm Labor and Employment Law Prize, which is awarded to a student who demonstrates an outstanding commitment to employer advocacy in labor and employment matters.

Practice Areas

Counseling and Transactional

Labor Management
Relations

Education

- Chicago-Kent College of Law, J.D., 2021
- Workplace ADR Certification
- Sandra P. Zemm Labor & Employment Law Prize
- Wake Forest University, B.A., 2018

Admissions

Illinois

Samantha K. Buddig

Fast Laner

NLRB General Counsel Takes a Stand on Noncompetition Agreements: Employers Beware!

Samantha Buddig, 05.31.2023

End of Year Illinois Equal Pay Act Reminders Employers Should Remember

Samantha Buddig, 10.06.2022

End of Year Training Reminders Employers Should Remember

Samantha Buddig, 10.06.2022

SCOTUS Rules Emotional Distress Damages Unavailable for Suits Under Certain Federal Anti-Discrimination Laws

Samantha Buddig, 05.18.2022

Vaccine Mandates are Becoming the Rule and Not the Exception: What Employers Need to Know

Samantha Buddig, 10.18.2021