Alex R. Schoephoerster and Moss & Barnett are pleased to be a sponsor of The Impact of Web3 on Law & Society, a one-day conference examining how decentralizing technologies are restructuring societies.

Modern computing and internet technologies are disrupting the foundational institutions of society — governance, property, commerce, and the structure and practice of law itself.

These same technologies are also being used to recreate these foundations of tomorrow.

AI | Cryptocurrency | DAOs | Blockchain | Smart Contracts

To capture the scope of these topics, the University of St. Thomas School of Law is teaming up with Minnesota Blockchain Initiative on an ambitious event.

This day-long conference will feature a blend of big-picture theory about what's possible as well as ground-level analysis of what's happening right now — featuring a host of industry experts and an audience of students and professionals in law and business.

Panel Discussions | Breakout Sessions | Q&As | Networking

Held at the University of St. Thomas School of Law in downtown Minneapolis, this event will lay the foundation for such discourse and exploration. Your ticket also includes a light breakfast and a catered lunch. We would be honored to have you join us.
