

Responding to OSHA and Defending OSHA Citations

Sponsored by multiple trade associations, Radisson Roseville Hotel, Roseville, MN
01.29.2015

In this seminar, construction attorney Aaron Dean will focus on defending OSHA citations (both federal OSHA and MnOSHA) and dealing with OSHA during their investigation of your worksite and their requests for information. You will learn how your company's prior safety training can be the basis for a complete defense to an OSHA citation. Learn as well about your company's rights when an OSHA investigator shows up at your jobsite or asks to interview your employees. Defending yourself is important – not just for the one penalty you might fight, but also long-term when your insurance carrier looks at your behavior mod.

Attorneys

Aaron A. Dean

Practice Areas

Construction Law

