

Real Estate, Zoning & Public Finance

We offer the depth of legal service and extensive business and legal experience needed to successfully represent real estate clients in projects and transactions including land development, regulatory challenges, public/private financing, title clearance, commercial sales transactions, commercial leasing, closings, and much more.

Our real estate tax capabilities include representing borrowers and creditors in debt-financing, and private equity funds and other real estate clients, including REITs, in joint ventures, entity structuring, and tax-planning around acquisitions and dispositions.

Our attorneys represent public and private clients, including land developers, residential and commercial builders, developers specializing in new urbanism and mixed-use projects, investors in real estate, banks and financial institutions in real estate lending transactions, as well as special purpose taxing districts. Real estate dispute resolution, including litigation and arbitration of contract disputes, construction defect cases, zoning matters, eminent domain, and representation in title disputes arising from adverse possession claims and other title matters, are all part of the variety of litigation services offered to our real estate clients.

Litigation Services

Our diverse and experienced real estate attorneys have represented clients in both traditional litigation and alternative dispute resolution proceedings including mediation and arbitration relating to the following types of real property disputes on behalf of commercial, residential, and public clients:

- Abandonment
- Adverse possession and prescriptive easements
- Boundary disputes
- Breach of contract
- Brokerage commission disputes
- Commercial lease disputes (rent, premises violation, maintenance disputes)
- Construction and property defect cases
- Covenant violations
- Eminent domain and valuation
