PARALEGAL

Overview

Clients appreciate Lisa's keen focus in assisting with construction claims ranging from design defects to personal injuries or fatalities on construction sites. Her adept handling of document management, including organizing voluminous document productions and abstracting critical medical records, ensures the firm's legal strategies are grounded in meticulous preparation and comprehensive evidence. Lisa's skill sets not only support the firm's attorneys but directly impact clients' abilities to effectively respond to litigation challenges. Her role includes identifying prior relevant injuries, abstracting deposition testimony, drafting subpoenas, and selecting records to be provided for expert review.

Beyond her core responsibilities, Lisa's dedication to successful client outcomes extends to conducting jury verdict research to inform settlement strategies and potential litigation exposures. Lisa's multifaceted role is vital to both the team's success and the defense strategies the firm deploys on behalf of its clients.
