

Aviation Lending: Is It Right for Your Bank?

Amundsen Davis, Webinar
October 20, 2016 | 12:00PM

Banks are constantly looking for new sources of lending revenue since real estate became less-than-stable during the Great Recession. Because of this, some institutions are looking at aviation lending to diversify their lending portfolio.

Join Mike Cortina, as he explores the basics of aviation lending and exposes some problems that those new to the industry may find if they are not fully prepared.

This webinar is a follow-up to our aircraft seminar, "Fundamentals of Buying and Operating Business Aircraft."
