

Defended a Global Retail Company After a Residential Fire

Amundsen Davis defended a global retail company in a residential fire investigation and inspection involving multiple fatalities. After working closely with electrical engineering and cause-and-origin experts, we were able to establish the product in question did not cause the fire based on its design. As such, our client was dismissed from the case.

PROFESSIONALS

Craig Cappas
Partner

RELATED SERVICES

Product Liability