

Defended a Transportation Company Against Claims of Negligence, Negligent Entrustment and Negligent Hiring

Matthew Kees defended a transportation company against claims of negligence, negligent entrustment, and negligent hiring. While in the course of deposing the plaintiff, Matt obtained an admission that the plaintiff fell asleep immediately before the accident, and caused his own injuries. The plaintiff voluntarily dismissed the lawsuit shortly after without even making a settlement demand.

PROFESSIONALS

Matthew Kees
Partner

RELATED SERVICES

Transportation & Logistics