

Attorney Matthew R. Planey Joins Amundsen Davis's Columbus Office

Firm News

December 8, 2023

We are excited to announce that Matthew R. Planey has joined our Insurers' and General Liability Service Groups as a partner in our Columbus office.

Matt's experience encompasses a wide array of insurance defense cases, both first-party and third-party. He handles intricate matters of personal injury defense, product liability, medical negligence, and construction litigation. Matt excels in navigating complex insurance coverage disputes, offering insightful coverage opinions, robustly defending against extra-contractual and bad faith punitive damage claims, and meticulously investigating fraudulent arson and theft claims. His methodical analysis of policy language and thorough investigation skills make him a valuable asset to insurance companies seeking reliable legal guidance. Matt's prowess extends to conducting jury trials with precision and proficiency in both state and federal courts throughout Ohio.
