

Darren Grady Cited in The Washington Post

Media Mention

The Washington Post

June 28, 2019

An article written by Darren Grady was recently referenced in The Washington Post, in a piece discussing the new wave of CBD in food and drink even though it is still illegal under federal law. The article, which was published on June 24, speculates that this new trend may push the FDA towards developing a regulatory framework.

The article, "CBD-infused food and beverages are still illegal under U.S. law. So why are they everywhere?", can be read in full on The Washington Post website.

PROFESSIONALS

Darren P. Grady
Partner

RELATED SERVICES

Cannabis, CBD & Hemp