Mike McGrory was quoted by Crain's Chicago Business in an article titled, "Law firms getting over their fear of cannabis." The article details how law firms have been hesitant to work for businesses in the cannabis industry and highlights the firms, including Amundsen Davis, that have been representing cannabis clients for years. "I like to think that clients who were also putting their neck on the line in 2013, jumping into this weird industry, appreciate that we were there with them all along," Mike said.
