Wiley has been named one of Lawdragon's 500 Leading Dealmakers in recognition of his extensive experience handling “headline-making transactions that involve more than a few dollars.” To select the “stars [that] general counsels want on their side of the negotiating table,” Lawdragon utilized its own journalistic reporting and solicited votes from attorneys’ peers and clients.

Currently working on the pending Sirius/XM merger, he has been lead counsel in the AT&T/BellSouth and Comcast/Time Warner/Adelphia mergers, and has been counsel on almost all of the other Bell Company mergers, CBS mergers with Westinghouse and Viacom, and numerous other “deals” in the communications industry.
