

Mary E. Borja Rejoins Wiley Rein Partnership

January 19, 2010

Wiley Rein is pleased to announce that Mary E. Borja has rejoined the firm as a partner in its prominent Insurance Practice. Last year, Ms. Borja left the partnership, though remained with the firm as a consulting counsel while living abroad in Turkey. Upon her return, Ms. Borja will continue to represent insurers in complex litigation and arbitration involving insurance law and commercial disputes.

Ms. Borja first joined Wiley Rein as an associate 15 years ago and was promoted to partner in 2001. Welcoming her back, Managing Partner Richard E. Wiley said, "Mary has been a key partner in our insurance practice for a number of years and we are thrilled that she has come home again."

Ms. Borja received her B.A. from The John Hopkins University and her J.D., magna cum laude, from the University of Miami School of Law.
