

Senator Menendez Found Guilty of Corruption & Acting as a Foreign Agent

July 17, 2024

Senator Bob Menendez (D-NJ), former Chair of the U.S. Senate Committee on Foreign Relations, has been found guilty in his federal corruption case for, among other things, bribery, obstruction of justice, and acting as a foreign agent of Egypt. This is the first case in which a U.S. Senator has been convicted of acting as a foreign agent.

In September 2023, Sen. Menendez was indicted by federal prosecutors on corruption charges for allegedly taking bribes to help business partners in New Jersey associated with the Egyptian Government. The Senator, alongside his wife, Nadine Menendez, accepted hundreds of thousands of dollars and gold bars from New Jersey businessmen in exchange for Menendez facilitating weapon sales to Egypt. In October 2023, federal prosecutors filed a superseding indictment alleging new charges that Menendez conspired alongside his wife and two of the New Jersey businessmen to act as agents of a foreign principal to Egypt by providing sensitive U.S. Government information to aid in the advancement of Egyptian interests. The charges describe dinner meetings held in Manhattan between Sen. Menendez, Nadine Menendez, businessman Wael Hana, and unnamed Egyptian Officials during which sensitive information was passed. Federal law prohibits public officials from serving as foreign agents, even as registered under the Foreign Agents Registration Act (FARA). 18 U.S. Code § 219.

Sen. Menendez, who pleaded not guilty, was found guilty on Tuesday by a 12-member jury on all 16 counts, including charges of bribery, conspiracy to commit honest services fraud, extortion, and conspiracy for a public official to act as a foreign agent. The Senator faces a sentencing hearing on October 29, and could face decades in prison. Despite his calls for resignation, the Senator has yet to step down
