

TikTok off the Clock: Navigating the TikTok Ban on Devices for Government Contractors

Wiley Government Contracts Podcast
August 16, 2023

Wiley Government Contracts · TikTok off the Clock: Navigating the TikTok Ban on Devices for Government Contractors

Much like high school teachers across the country, Congress and the Executive Branch have been expressing security concerns about TikTok and its parent company, ByteDance, a Chinese software firm. These concerns led to the No TikTok on Government Devices Act, which prohibits any government contractor from using the app on devices used to perform government contracts. Listen as Government Contracts partners Craig Smith and Tracye Howard, as well as associate Jennifer Retener, break down the interim rule and its effect on contractors, including on both the federal and state level.

Related Professionals

Craig Smith
Partner
202.719.7297
csmith@wiley.law

Tracye Winfrey Howard
Partner
202.719.7452
toward@wiley.law

Jennifer Eve Retener
Associate
202.719.4028
jretener@wiley.law

Practice Areas

Cybersecurity
Government Contracts